LONDON LETTER

By VICTORIAN

London, June 5 (By Mail)—It is very unusual to go anywhere nowadays without seeing or hearing of people who have lived or sojourned in British Columbia. Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Bromley gave a dance recently at 19 Grosvenor Square in honor of their daughter, Miss Victoria Bromley. The hostess wore pink and silver and Miss Victoria's dress was of white chiffon and silver lace. A number of people entertained at dinner before the dance. Among those noticed in the ballroom were Capt. the Hon. Alexander Ramsay and Lady Patricia Ramsay, Lord and Lady Stanley, Admiral of the fleet, Sir Charles Madden and Lady Madden, Admiral Sir William Pakenham, Miss Laura Audain and James Audain, the Hon. Lady Bromley and Miss Bromley and Sir Henry and the Hon. Lady Croft.

Miss Angela Villiers was among the guests at the dance given by Lady Liddell and Mrs. Everard Hanbury in honor of their daughters. Admiral Sir Guy Gaunt is one of only half a dozen candidates who were successful in being elected to the membership of the Royal Yacht Squadron. Admiral Gaunt has been cruising for a considerable time in British Columbia waters.

The Royal Academy opened the Summer exhibit on May 3. A life-size portrait of His Majesty the King is generally conceded to be an excellent likeness and attracts much attention. It was painted by Richard Jack, R.A. "Rosebud," Margaret Lindsay-Williams portrays a young ballet dancer reclining on the stage exhausted, but triumphant after discarding her nosegays at her feet. This is considered one of the most lifelike child pictures there. "Girl and Bird," Harold Knight, and "An Old Man Reading," Isabel Cordington, are two of the most arresting pictures of their type shown. Each artist chose to paint a window in the background, the light from which accentuates the lifelike characters depicted. There are numbers of portraits of well-known people, from which it is difficult to choose a favorite. It was while looking at these that I came to a group of interested spectators and found they were viewing "Miss Y," painted by an artist Victoria may claim as her own, namely, Robin Watt. This is a study in tones of brown. The lady in question is portrayed as a man-like type. Her short golden-brown hair is brushed straight back from her forehead, her face is oval with blue eyes and an aquiline nose. Her mouth inclined to a bow. She is dressed in a burberry with upturned collar, thrown open to display a woolen striped jumper beneath, in the pocket of which one hand is thrust while the other is resting on her hip. Its chief charm lies in the sunlight effect obtained, and in the picture of the shades of brown. It is this picture that has had such favorable comment. Robin Watt has been spoken of this year as a young artist of great promise.

The King held a levee at St. James's Palace on May 31. Lieut. James Audain, The Queen's Own Hussars, was among those presented.

Two Stage People Ended Their Lives

New York, June 21.—The waning gaiety along Broadway that marks the closing of the theatrical season was checked still further to-day by the tale of two persons, a man and a woman, who had trod the boards of the bright light district and who sought succor from poverty and grief in death.

The woman was Ann Austin, thirty-two, an actress and former wife of a Charleston, W.Va., lawyer. She took poison after weeks of unemployment, leaving a note blaming her act upon "a man named Emil."

The man was Alexander Nijlen, former officer in the Russian army and last winter a Broadway chorus man. He chose drowning as a means of escape from the worries of life.

AGED MAN ROBBED

Toronto, June 21.—While he was absent from his home for less than an hour, thieves broke into the home of Ambrose Bond, aged seventy-six, who are less than a year from his 80th birthday, and robbed him of $2,500, the greater part of his life's savings.

AUSTRALIANS PILE UP GOOD SCORE IN MANCHESTER GAME

Manchester, June 21 (By Canadian Press)—The first day of the cricket match between the Australians and Lancashire stood: Lancashire, first innings, 144; Australia, first innings, 262 for six.

The grandstands were packed when play was resumed in the cricket match between the Australians and Lancashire this morning. Macartney not out 62, and Richardson not out 5, continued the first innings of the Australians. Macartney early assumed a perfect mastery over the bowling and cut and drove in a series of powerful strokes around the wicket. His partnership with Richardson added 115 runs in ninety-five minutes. Richardson was finally out to a brilliant catch by R. Tydesley off the bowling of Macdonald. He had scored sixty-three runs in an hour and forty minutes of play.

Chaplin is to Appear in Movie As Napoleon I.

Hollywood, June 21.—Charlie Chaplin announced here to-day he was preparing a film story in which he would play the part of Napoleon Bonaparte. The comedian's plunge into screen drama will be made in company with Raquel Meller, Spanish singer, whom he had signed for a picture. She will appear opposite him as Josephine, the wife, whom the great Napoleon divorced. The work on the film will begin next January.

ACTION AGAINST SECRETARY FAILS

Stewart Mine Company Troubles Before Supreme Court

Action against Fred C. Elliott lodged by W. W. Rush and Arthur L. Bagg for alleged unlawful retention of books of the Rush-Columbia Mines of Stewart, B.C., was dismissed by Mr. Justice Gregory in the Supreme Court this morning.

No appearance was made by the plaintiffs and the action was dismissed on Mr. Elliott's application. Arthur Edward Haynes, Commander C. H. R. Slingsby and J. B. Shaw were named in the same action, the four defendants being sued for $7,400 on account of shares which they were alleged to have sold and issued without payment of the Rush-Columbia treasury. Action against the last three named defendants stood over.

The plaintiff, Rush, is a miner of Stewart and Bagg is a fruitgrower near Oliver.

It was alleged that F. C. Elliott, who was secretary of the company up to February, 1924, refused to surrender possession of the books and papers to permit removal to the registered office of the company on the appointment of a new secretary. This and the allegation that shares were issued without payment to the treasurer were denied. Surrender of the books without payment for services and monies paid out on behalf of the company by Mr. Elliott.

PRAIRIE RAINFALL CHEERS WHEAT MEN

Winnipeg, June 21.—Farmers throughout Western Canada are in a happy mood to-day. Heavy rains at almost every point on the prairies during the week-end have materially advanced crop prospects and according to all reports there is now sufficient moisture in the ground to safeguard the crops for several weeks. The precipitation has checked the menace of pests and soil drying.

Regina, June 21.—Fourteen hours of continuous heavy rains have flooded the North Portal district in Saskatchewan and the State of North Dakota and old timers here say there has not been anything like it since 1904. Sloughs are overflowing and creeks have overflowed their banks. A hailstorm is reported south of Lethbridge, where considerable damage was done to the crops.

Lethbridge, Alta., June 19.—Two inches of rain fell at Lethbridge last night in the heaviest downpour of the season. The rain is general in every section of Southern Alberta, making the crop outlook very bright. At eight o'clock this morning it was still raining with no sign of a let up. Crops which had been standing still in the early dry spells are recovering splendidly. The creek had had six inches of rain during the past week.

Bacteria and Medicine

By DR. HUGH S. CUMMING

Bacteria grow in watery substances or on moist surfaces. Some live chiefly in the tissues of human beings, others in the lower animals, still others grow only in plants, but the greater number live in dead organic matter.

They multiply with great rapidity merely by dividing. A particular cell after growing to a certain size, simply divides into two like cells, which rapidly grow to full size and likewise divide.

There are a great many kinds of bacteria, many of which are beneficial to mankind, such as those which make bread light (yeast), those that cause milk to sour and those causing decay of organic matter. While most bacteria are harmless, there are some that cause disease.

The bacterium causing anthrax was the first disease-producing germ to be grown in a "pure culture," that is, the artificial propagation of one particular variety of bacterium in some suitable medium, the most common media used being broths, bouillons, gelatin, blood-serum, agar, etc.

It was not many years after Koch had grown a pure culture of the bacillus that causes anthrax, that Pasteur dramatically demonstrated the prophylactic value of the injection of a weakened or "attenuated" virus, or culture which he produced by keeping his cultures for a considerable time before replanting them upon fresh nutrient media.

IMMUNOLOGY
Although inoculation with smallpox in ancient times, probably 2,000 or more years ago, and vaccination with cowpox, introduced by Jenner in 1778, were examples of the earliest practical use of specific methods of producing immunity, immunology as a science is of comparatively recent origin, dating back scarcely thirty-five or forty years ago.

Pasteur, influenced by Jenner's demonstration that vaccination will protect against smallpox, further developed that principle, upon which he based his work in immunity, that the European heavy-weight title from Phil Scott, knocking out the English champion in the eleventh round. D. G. Benson, Persson's manager, said that no fight contracts had yet been made in the United States.

TRAPPER DIED

Chapleau, Ont., June 21.—"Death is death only where the soul died," wrote Alex. Hardie, a trapper and logger, to relatives here on June 7. His body was found Saturday stretched across the door of his lonely shack, and from the state of decomposition, it would appear he died a few days after he had penned the message. Death resulted from natural causes.

CITY IS ASKED PRICE ON EXHIBITION GROUNDS BY OUTSIDE CAPITAL

The property adjoining the Old Men's Home, situated:

"It is recommended that the whole of these properties be sold, during the first half of 1926, for whatever price may be obtainable. This will change a substantial annual outgo into a revenue item."

Ex-Alderman Todd was addressing his report at the time, to means of reducing civic expenditures by the curtailment of what were considered by some to be unnecessary items in the city's bill of annual upkeep. The Todd report was considered by the council of 1925, but no direct action was taken on it at the time.

SIXTY-EIGHT ACRES

The Willows Exhibition grounds include approximately sixty-eight acres of land. Up to 1911 three deedures series showed on city books in relation to its upkeep. These were two tracts of $20,000 each, and one for $50,000. In 1911 the first issue of $25,000 was paid off, leaving a total of $75,000 outstanding on long term interest.

The first to mature is for the sum of $25,000, due in 1944, and bearing interest at 4 1/2 per cent. It will cost the city $24,491 to provide for payment of this sum at due date, in nineteen years' time. The second deedure is for $50,000, maturing in 1954 at 4 per cent. This will cost $47,152.50 to complete in the thirty-one years to due date, it is shown in figures prepared at the City Hall today.

The total sums needed to retire the debt will be $96,643.50, exclusive of taxes, insurance and the annual grants to the B.C. Agricultural Association, the last named paying the taxes out of its grant.

The cost of the upkeep of the property in interest, sinking fund, and other charges and grants amounts to an average of $5,932.06 yearly. Of this sum $376.56 is paid in insurance on the buildings. The taxes for the current year are $2,180, met by the B.C. Agricultural Association out of its $5,000 grant from the city.

DELEGATES FROM CANADA

Chicago, June 21.—Cardinal Dubois and Cardinal Chastel of France were greeted Sunday afternoon with tremendous enthusiasm by the large assembly of French-speaking people ever seen in this city.

Delegates from Canada who swell the French delegation to the Twenty-eighth Eucharistic Congress, making it the largest of all the national units, attended the sectional meeting which was addressed by the apostolic delegate to Canada, the Most Rev. Pietro Di Maria, and Premier Taschereau of Quebec. Right Rev. Georges Gauthier, Archbishop of Montreal, presided.

The cheers of 3,000 pilgrims greeted Premier Taschereau's declaration that although separated from their country by nationality and geography, the French-Canadians were still one with Frenchmen in spirit.

CITY OF DAMASCUS IN STATE OF SIEGE

Barricades and barbed wire entanglements are at every important street corner and command every square in the very centre of the city to within a few blocks of the staff headquarters of the French army. These defensive measures have maintained a relative calm among the inhabitants within the walls of the capital, but have not completely stamped out the rebellious elements.

Bombardment by aeroplanes and artillery of the villages and the gardens near Damascus where the dissidents are concentrated are daily and nightly occurrences. Hundreds of shells were fired into the gardens on June 15, 16, 17 and 18, particularly severe bombardment being carried out on June 18, when French aeroplanes bombed the neighborhood of Damascus uninterruptedly for two and a half hours. Although some of the shells passed over parts of the city itself before reaching their objectives beyond the walls, Arab archers played in the streets apparently oblivious to their screaming.

Occasionally the crack of the lone rifle of a dissident is heard as a sniper takes a pot shot at some French soldier. The dissident forces holding the gardens have been estimated at between 1,200 and 2,000. They have no artillery save two small anti-tank guns.

Sultan Pasha Attrache, commander-in-chief of the Druse army, within the past few days sent a message to the people of the United States through the Associated Press in which he denied violation of the rights of Christians in Syria and stated his people merely were fighting the French for their own rights in their native land.

SIX DROWNED WHEN BOAT TURNED OVER

Sunday Accident at Sault Ste. Marie; Winnipeg Swimmer Lost Life

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 21.—Six young persons lost their lives late yesterday afternoon when a small and overcrowded boat in which they were taking a pleasure trip here, was struck by a wave and capsized. The victims, whose ages range between thirteen and sixteen years, were: Arthur Tessler, Clement Cormier, John Parsons, Heggy and Annie McIntyre and Emily Terry.

Isaac Jolicoeur, aged fifteen, the seventh occupant of the boat, was rescued.

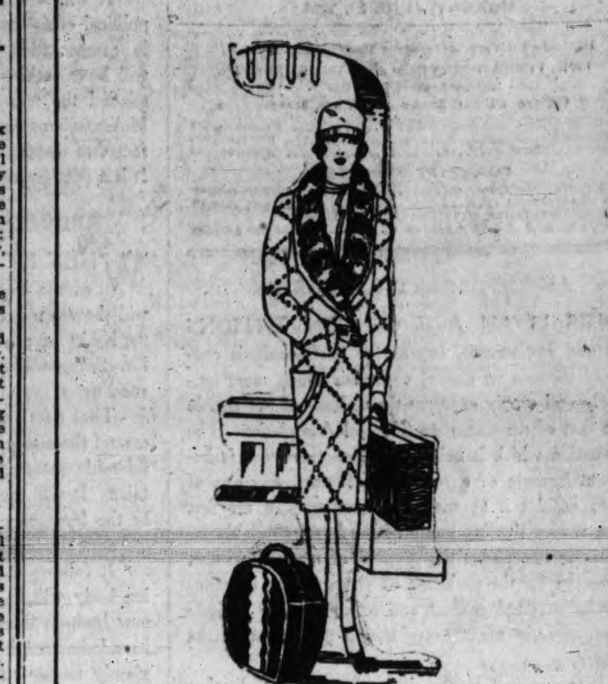

Jolicoeur stated he was invited into the boat at the ship canal pier. It was then overcrowded. The boat had gone about 200 yards when it was struck by a wave and the occupants plunged into the water. Being a strong swimmer Jolicoeur was the only one of the party able to reach the overturned boat to which he clung until rescued. It is believed the others were unable to swim.

DEATHS IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, June 21.—J. W. Pearson was killed in the swimming pool of the local Y.M.C.A. Saturday night when he struck his head on the tiled bottom during a dive. No one was near him and when bathers from the other end of the pool recovered the body, life was extinct. Pearson was twenty-four years old and a recent arrival in this city from Saskatoon.

Albert F. Fall, thirty-seven, collapsed on a sidewalk on a downtown street Saturday night and died of heart failure before aid could be summoned.

BRINGING IN THE FIRST SALMON OF THE SEASON

IN the early part of the last century, when the North West Company established their posts in New Caledonia—as British Columbia was then called—each fort was expected to be self-supporting in the matter of foodstuffs. Of course, tea, sugar, salt, pepper, and such other supplies and comforts as could not be obtained in the country, were sent in in moderate quantities. Under these conditions the traders and their staffs were obliged to depend largely upon the run of salmon for sustenance. Often they were in sore straits whilst awaiting the coming of these fish. Thus it came about, that the catching of the first salmon—which heralded the year's run—was a time of great rejoicing.

It was also a day of great rejoicing for B. C. housewives when Shelly's established a dependable Bakery service and relieved them of the worry of home baking. Use Shelly's complete Baking service in your home, and enjoy the delicious flavor and fine quality of all 4X Products.

INTENSE INTEREST IN CHURCH CONGRESS

admission. So dense were the multitudes about the field outside the stadium that the ecclesiastical procession of June 15, 16, 17 and 18, could not enter the field until a police squad had struggled for half an hour at the clergy's gate to cut a lane three feet wide through the crowd. The purple-clad bishops then filed slowly into the field. The crowd greeted the procession with reverence, all who could find room falling to their knees.

SUNDAY CEREMONIES

Solemn and stately ceremonies, symbolizing with all the pomp and pageantry of ancient Rome the unity of a world-wide church, marked the formal opening of the congress yesterday.

One of the mightiest hosts of pilgrims ever assembled in Christendom for the purpose of making public profession of faith in Jesus Christ inaugurated the five-day festival with worship in more than 5,000 masses which preceded magnificent services in the Cathedral of the Holy Name, in which Cardinal Bonzano was formally installed as the Legate of Pope Pius XI.

Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, sponsor of the congress and host of its pilgrims, uttered thanksgiving in his address to Cardinal Bonzano for the spiritual harvest epitomized in the reception of Holy Communion by more than 1,000,000 souls in the Chicago archdiocese yesterday.

Archbishops, bishops, abbots, priests and lay pilgrims from the far-flung realms of the earth bowed before the resplendent cathedral sanctuary, whence twelve cardinal priests, on princely thrones, led in the adoration of the Eucharist. More than four hours elapsed between the sounding of the first notes of the processional and the bestowing of the Apostolic blessing by Cardinal Bonzano as he descended from his throne at the conclusion of the service.

Among the participants in the cathedral ceremonies were approximately 400 bishops, a score or more of mitred abbots, more than 200 monsignors, several thousand priests and monks, 600 seminarians and hundreds of nuns—all clad in the robes of their office or order.

PAPAL BRIEF READ

The ceremonies began with the reading of the papal brief, first in Latin and then in English, by the Very Rev. Monsignor Dennis J. Dunne of Chicago. In his message to the congress, Pope Pius XI defined the purpose of the gathering as the "conservation and invigoration of Christian life through devotion to and reception of the Eucharist."

"It is needful to stir up in each what the mystical writers call the 'interior life,'" said the Pope. "As this is conversation in Heaven, and as it thrives or languishes according as charity burns actively or by its nature and effects, it has for its principal object the increase or diminution of the soul with God."

CATHEDRAL TRANSFORMED

The Cathedral of the Holy Name had been transformed for the ceremonies. Garlands of silver and gold draped from the fluted Gothic columns symbolized, in grape leaves and wheat sheaves, the glories of the Eucharist.

High above the sanctuary an exquisite representation of the transfiguration was visible to every worshiper. Myriad lights and awaying banners about the arches of the nave and transept formed a giant cross of color and splendor.

Over the shining white marble of the altar was a resplendent golden sunburst, the central figure of a drapery of regal white ermine and silken velvet centred over the altar and fell in rich folds of cardinal red to the marble floor.

Twelve canopied thrones in cardinal red and applied with golden insignia were in the sanctuary before the altar, the regal throne of the Legate being set higher and on the opposite side of the cathedral from the others.

The rush of visitors to the city, which set in early last week, was at high tide today, taxing railroad facilities as well as lake docks and automobile roads.

COSMOPOLITAN GATHERING

The congress is one of the most cosmopolitan gatherings held in the United States in many years. American Indians, Eskimos, native priests of the Punjab and citizens of the French Sudan are among the pilgrims.

One session will be addressed by the Bishop of Algiers, and another by the Abbot of Tongerlo. The Arch-

CANADA'S EMPIRE POSITION DEBATED

present Government, said the Premier, believes that in general practice, in respect to important treaties, and in treaties regarding military and economic sanctions, the approval of Parliament should be secured.

At the approaching Imperial Conference matters might arise upon which the representatives of Canada would be asked to express their views, and possibly be asked what commitments the Dominion was prepared to make. One of the questions which might arise was that of the Locarno Treaty. It was important for Parliament to express its opinion upon that agreement before its representative at the Imperial Conference took any action of a binding nature.

It was not his intention to discuss the Locarno agreement, Premier King said, but he said that the Locarno Treaty, which was not bound by the Canadian Government had seen no reason why it should assume any obligations under the Locarno pact, especially as the British Government had suggested that Parliament be consulted before assuming such obligations.

The Government, he said, proposed to reach no final decision on the Locarno question until after the Imperial Conference in October.

afternoon feature, a thorough discussion of goitre, its cause, prevention and cure. This discussion is being anticipated with much interest by the delegates from the prairie provinces, where goitre is more prevalent than in the sea-boarded areas of Canada.

The surgical aspects of goitre will be dealt with by Dr. G. S. Fahrni of Winnipeg; Dr. A. H. Gordon of Montreal will present the medical viewpoint; Dr. W. D. Keith of Vancouver will outline the latest ideas in prevention of goitre and Dr. W. H. McGuffin of Calgary will tell of the use of the X-ray and the additions which this art has contributed to the knowledge of the cause and treatment of goitre.

On Thursday morning another series of related addresses will feature the programme, Dr. H. C. Moffitt of San Francisco joining with Drs. W. H. Dickson and F. N. G. Starr of Toronto in presenting the latest knowledge of the cause and treatment of duodenal ulcer.

The great progress in diagnosis and treatment which has followed from co-operation between physicians and specialists will be presented by Dr. Willis Lemon, of the famous Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minnesota, on Thursday afternoon, and many other half-hour addresses by the most prominent experts of North America will feature the general sessions.

MacLEAN TO REFUND SHORT-TERM BONDS

"The gross debt of the Province, including all temporary borrowings as at June 15 is $77,386,981, which amount includes this debt. Two million dollars of this debt will be retired on July 1 by sinking fund provisions already in hand to meet maturity."

"Total non-productive debt is now $60,184,733. Total productive debt $17,202,248. Total sinking funds on hand $14,256,954, being for non-productive debt $10,768,711.68, P.G.E. direct obligations $1,543,775.28, productive $1,944,467.55."

"Net debt of Province at June 15 is $45,927,778.51. All sinking fund provisions for debt over five years are fully provided to retire debt at maturity. Redemption of debt of $2,000,000 on July 1 next will make a total of $5,150,000 of the Provincial debt retired by sinking fund provisions since December 1 last."

"Sinking fund provisions show a surplus of $1,146,000 more than our theoretical requirements to liquidate debt at maturity."

"Current revenue for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1925, was $20,191,715 with current expenditure of $18,229,324."

Thrift Congress In Philadelphia

Philadelphia, June 21.—Thrift promoters and educators will come here June 29 to attend the National Congress for Thrift, which will be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the National Education Association.

BUSINESS LEADERS MEET

Nelson, B.C., June 21.—The Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia met in twenty-sixth annual session here today. Cases and other external delegates will be present.

Ever Thought of Endowing your Home?

SUPPOSE that — having purchased a home and effected a mortgage on it — you should die suddenly!

Wouldn't your wife and family have a hard time meeting the interest on the mortgage and discharging the principal sum when due?

Not so, however if you were insured under an Imperial Endowment policy for the amount of the mortgage.

A small amount invested each year in such a policy will enable your heirs to pay the mortgage immediately after your death, even if it should occur next week.

On the other hand, if you should live until the policy matures you can then pay off the indebtedness yourself out of the proceeds of the Endowment.

Have you a mortgage on your home? Why carry this responsibility yourself? Why bequeath an unpaid mortgage to your loved ones?

Let us show you how easily you can make sure of its repayment whether you live or die.

Send the coupon to-day—to-morrow you may be uninsurable.

AN IMPORTANT GATHERING

THIS IS AN AGE OF CONVENTIONS and conferences, but as far as Canada is concerned there is no annual gathering which more intimately and vitally concerns the welfare of our people than that of the Canadian Medical Association. The convention which is being held here this week is important because of a number of factors, any one of which entitles it to special distinction. In the first place it is a clearing house of the latest available information concerning the progress of medical science, a medium for the exchange of views among its members by personal contact and intercourse on subjects which directly affect every hearth and home in the country.

The average reader may not understand what is implied by many of the formidable technical terms which appear on the programme of the convention, and may not be able to grasp the significance of the discussions, but at the basis of it all is his own interest. Imposing though a convention of so important a body as the Canadian Medical Association may be, all of it revolves around the human factor in society, and often that factor is the humblest and most inconspicuous person in the community.

"Medical organizations in themselves are necessarily conservative, but in their activities they are widely democratic, since the nature of their profession requires them to close their eyes to class distinctions, to penetrate the artificial trappings of humanity and deal only with the human equation; which in an elementary sense is the same in both rich and poor, in the lofty and the obscure. Hence the deliberations of the Association are not something belonging to a world of its own, but are a very concrete part of the every-day, humdrum world in which all of us live.

The convention is also something of a university, in the sense that it broadens the knowledge of all of its members. No matter how experienced, brilliant and distinguished many of those who take part may be, there always is something of this vast and ancient science, to be learned by everybody. Every contribution to the programme will be made with that purpose in mind, and every discussion should be productive of something of value to every delegate, and therefore in the final and most important analysis to the public as a whole. Our morning contemporary commends the Association for its growing tendency to keep the public informed by discreet publicity of the progress of medical science, and the most effective means of preserving the public health. With this we are in full accord. The B.C. Association has been carrying out this policy for several years by means of daily articles on health topics in the press of this city and other cities of the Province which have made a very favorable impression.

Incidentally, this policy should stimulate a greater interest in health matters, which eventually should have a beneficial influence on Government policy. The fact that we still appropriate more funds for the health of our livestock than we do for the health of our people suggests that there is wide room for improvement in this vital particular.

Finally, the convention is noteworthy because of the eminence of many of those who are attending it. The personnel includes men whom the whole world has delighted to honor, and Canadians are justly proud of the fact that in the forefront of that distinguished roster are men of their own country, such men as Dr. Banting, Dr. Best, Dr. McLeod and Dr. Collip. Leaders of the profession of other countries also will lend their valued assistance in making the convention a success.

Victoria extends to the visitors a whole-hearted welcome, and hopes that their stay here will be unqualifiedly pleasant and profitable.

HOHENZOLLERNS TO GET COMPENSATION

YESTERDAY'S PLEBISCITE IN GERMANY has determined that there will be no confiscation of the Hohenzollern property without compensation. Twenty million affirmative votes were required to give the republic the right to expropriate it and turn it over to the state without regard to the claims of the former rulers of the country. The total was 14,889,703, or more than five millions short of the required number.

The decision of the electorate by no means guarantees the Hohenzollerns the 3,000,000,000 marks which they are claiming. The appeal was taken largely in order that the people's opinion of the principle involved might be obtained. President Hindenburg made it clear some time ago that he was opposed to the submission of the plebiscite at all, and it is doubtful if he would have signed the expropriation decree if yesterday's vote had succeeded. At the same time, in spite of the fact that the claimants have won the first round of their battle for compensation, when nearly 15,000,000 out of an electorate of just a little less than 40,000,000 declare their objection to paying out any more money than is necessary, it can scarcely be called a victory for the friends of the monarchy. Millions, moreover, refused to vote on party instruction.

It will now be interesting to see what sort of a political crisis the question of the amount to be paid in compensation will bring about. The Socialists will leave nothing to chance. They have already reminded the masses that they owe nothing to the Hohenzollerns and they are making much play on the fact that compensation will mean still more taxation. It is a good argument under the unique circumstances.

REDUCING THE P.G.E. DEFICIT

WHEN HE SAYS THAT THE DEFICIT of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway system will show a reduction of not less than $50,000 after the books have been closed at the end of this month, Dr. Sutherland gives the people of this Province good news.

The new directorate which will henceforward control the administration of the road should find considerable satisfaction in this improving state of affairs. It will give them a flying start and no doubt be the forerunner of similar reductions in the size of the annual operating loss.

It follows that the system under its new governing body will have a much better chance of getting new business than it ever could have had as long as its administration was in the hands of ministers obviously unable to attend to its many problems with the thoroughness which they demanded.

THE JAY-WALKING BY-LAW

VANCOUVER'S JAY-WALKING BY-law seems to have aroused a good deal of controversy between those who regard it as a piece of timely legislation and those who declare it a class regulation that is impossible to enforce.

The motorist advances the argument that the pedestrian is a menace and a nuisance when he uses his own judgment and contends that his movements on streets where there is a considerable amount of vehicular traffic should be rigidly controlled. The pedestrian replies that he has just as much right to do as he chooses on a public thoroughfare, providing he exercises ordinary care, as the driver of an automobile.

Between these two views it should be possible to discover a short cut to mutual assistance and protection. Some of the dangers of street crossing would disappear if both sides of busy thoroughfares were not used for the parking of cars. If this practice were to be abolished the pedestrian and motorist alike would have a clearer view of the traffic and both would be in a better position to know what to do between intersecting streets.

After all, the people who do not own automobiles are in the majority, and because their means of getting about the streets is much slower, it does not destroy their right to expect a reasonable attitude from those who move quicker in a motor car. When Victoria or Vancouver reach the size of Seattle or San Francisco it may be necessary to frame more stringent civic regulations.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TAXES BORNE BY CENTRAL CANADA

From The Manitoba Free Press

While agreeing with Hon. F. H. McCurdy that the economic system of Canada has resulted in the centralizing of commerce, banking and manufacturing in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, The Halifax Chronicle also shows that undue pretensions regarding the share of federal taxation borne by those central provinces have been made by some of the people. Customs and excise receipts are credited to those provinces on goods afterwards shipped to, and consumed in, the Maritime Provinces. That is to say, the tax is paid, say in Montreal or Toronto, but it is then passed on to the consumer, who really bears the burden of the tax.

The same is true, of course, of a large volume of goods shipped to the Western Provinces. As far as the official records are concerned, the Central Provinces are credited with the revenue from the customs and excise taxes on these goods, while they are really paid by western consumers.

And the same with the sales tax when it is collected on goods leaving the factories of Ontario and Quebec for the merchants of the Maritime Provinces and the West. And it is true to a lesser extent of the income tax paid by corporations in the Central Provinces when part of the income is derived from these other parts of the country. As far as they are able, the corporations pass on the tax to the public.

When allowance is made for all this, it is seen that the Central Provinces do not contribute nearly as large a share of the federal revenues as is sometimes claimed for them.

CRUSHING OUT BOLSHIEVISM

From The Toronto Globe

Whether or not the present alliance between the two dominant war lords—Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin—continues, and results in a permanent settlement of the country under a strong and capable government, it is apparently serving a good purpose for the time being. Both of these Tsuchans are intensely hostile to Bolshevism, both of them having suffered from Russian operations and Soviet propaganda, and they are alike resolved to crush it in the North and in the South. Wu Pei-fu already has a strong force on the march toward Canton, where the internal dispute between the Reds, now bereft of much of their influence and power, and the moderate elements of the community should make his progress and success comparatively easy. The Manchurian commander is also known to be bitterly antagonistic to Communist plots and influence, and it is manifestly by an agreement with him that Wu Pei-fu has detached such a considerable number of his regiments for the Southern operations. If, as the result of any such understanding, Bolshevism is measurably suppressed, that at any rate, will remain to the good.

It is to be feared, however, that between two such men as these Chinese war lords there can be no permanent agreement. Their desire is not for the good of their country. Each of them is actuated by the ambition to rule, and as both cannot they must inevitably remain rivals. With Chang Tso-lin recently supported and financed by Japan, as is openly charged, and with Wu Pei-fu favored and no doubt assisted by the Western Powers, hope for an enduring peace cannot be said to be very bright. A breathing spell there may be, which in itself will be grateful to the country, but it is too much to hope that the land which has already suffered so much from the ambitious operations of military chieftains will enjoy any long period of repose.

Russian Industry Undergoes Change

New York, June 21.—Soviet Russia is "working hard to reconstruct and develop industry, agriculture and commerce along largely capitalist lines," says a report of the Foreign Policy Association.

"The Soviet authorities have frequently been obliged to scrap their Communist demands for the latter, clashed too harshly with economic realities and have made big concessions to capitalist standards," declares James G. McDonald, chairman. "Some of the more orthodox followers of Marx have occasionally protested violently against these concessions, but in vain."

The growth and security of Russia's foreign trade depends on the rapidity of her economic recovery, Mr. McDonald adds, which in turn depends largely on the extent to which long term credits are made available. "Before granting these, capitalism still demands further concessions," he says. "The tendency toward doing business on a capitalist basis 'grows stronger day to day,' he continues.

Competition to break the back of private capitalism in 1925, private enterprise again is enjoying a relatively free hand. Nearly fifty per cent. of the retail trade in Russia is day in the hands of private traders. Russian foreign trade, however, is still a government monopoly, though some changes are being made.

CHURCH BUDGET FOR YEAR IS $3,250,000

Work of Co-ordination in United Church of Canada is Carried Forward

Montreal, June 21.—The United Church of Canada faces the coming year well embarked upon co-ordination of the work of the three bodies, Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist, which came together on June 10, 1925. A prodigious effort in this direction was put forth by the General Council of the church, which concluded ten days of sessions here on Saturday. Much permanent organization was achieved, and outstanding matters were referred to committees, which will report at the next session of the Council, to be held in Winnipeg in June, 1926. Co-ordinations will be the policy for the next couple of years.

Figures, incomplete because there is no uniform plan yet of gathering statistics, revealed a membership of 600,522 and a pastoral charge of 1,261,778, property valued at $76,783,136, and $14,592,243 raised for purposes, including stipends, during the year.

The budget for the next year for maintenance and operation is $3,250,000, with another $150,000 to be raised for other general purposes.

Association of Inventors Grows

Portland, Ore., June 20.—The National Association of Inventors, at the closing session of its annual convention here on Saturday, decided to expand its scope. The organization hereafter will be known as the International Association of Inventors. This action was taken to permit chapters of inventors in Canada to affiliate.

The association will hold conventions each three years. The next triennial gathering will be held in 1929 in a city to be selected by the officers of the grand chapter. Expositions of inventions will be staged annually, however, the next of which will be in Vancouver, B.C.

E. J. Carlson, president, and A. C. Clark, secretary-treasurer, both of Seattle, will hold their offices until the next triennial convention.

Two new vice-presidents were elected, including J. E. Norman of Vancouver, B.C., and John O. Golden of Portland.

Woman Killed Daughter and Wounded Self

Minneapolis, June 24.—Kathleen Kelly, six years old, was drugged to death by her mother, Mrs. T. B. Kelly, who then attempted to kill herself. The tragedy was discovered by a neighbor when he delivered papers at the home yesterday.

He found the girl dead and Mrs. Kelly lying on the floor, one wrist having been slashed with a carving knife.

Mrs. Kelly told the police she had killed her daughter with an anaesthetic because she had been desperate. Her husband is a teacher in a local music school.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Spearmint PieCopyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Uncle Wiggily, please bring me some spearmint when you come back from your adventures to-day," called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzey to the rabbit gentleman as he was hopping away one morning. "I want some spearmint to make a pie."

"Ha! Ha! That's a funny joke!" laughed Mr. Longears, twinkling his pink nose upside down. "A spear-mint pie? I guess you mean you want some spearmint to make a go-cart for Baby Buntz, don't you?"

"No, really, I am in earnest!" spoke the mustered lady housekeeper. "I am going to make a pie if you will bring me some spearmint."

"Well," said the rabbit gentleman slowly, "I have heard of spear-mint gum and spear-mint lollypops, but never before of spear-mint pie. Is there really such a thing?"

"There will be when I make it," laughed the mustered lady. "It is just as easy to put crushed, spicy, green spear-mint leaves in a pie as it is to put in apples, peaches or cherries."

"All right, I'll bring you some spear-mint," promised Mr. Longears, and away he hopped as fast as he could go. He did not want his wife or Nurse Jane to see his paws, and that is why he hopped so fast.

For on his paws Uncle Wiggily wore his dancing shoes, and he did not want his wife or the mustered lady housekeeper to know he was going to take a dancing lesson.

But that is exactly what the rabbit gentleman had in mind to do. Uncle Wiggily had heard every one talking about a dance called the "Charleston," and he wanted to learn it, but he wanted to surprise his wife about it. So, on the sly, he took some dancing lessons from Miss Sunbeam.

"But I am afraid you will never learn to Charleston," said Miss Sunbeam, hopelessly like after about the tenth lesson. "You don't seem to know how to knock your knees together."

"I will come to-morrow and take another lesson," said Uncle Wiggily persistent like. So that is why he had on his dancing shoes when Jane told him to bring her some spear-mint so she could make a pie.

"I don't want any of them to know I am taking Charleston lessons," said the bunny gentleman to himself. "It will be a grand surprise. But before I go to Miss Sunbeam I'll get Nurse Jane's spear-mint."

Down in the meadow, by the brook, grew a big patch of pepper-mint and spear-mint plants. Uncle Wiggily hopped off the road and down toward this spicy place. He intended to gather a pocketful of the green spear-mint leaves and then hurry on to his dancing lessons.

Reaching the edge of the spear-mint patch, Uncle Wiggily leaned over to pick some when all of a sudden, he felt his low dancing shoes filling with cold, wet water. Without knowing it he had gone too close to the edge of the brook and had stepped in.

"Oh, Ouchie! I'm all wet!" cried Uncle Wiggily. He jumped back, but it was too late. Over his dancing shoes the water of the brook ran. Then, finding he was in over his ankles, Uncle Wiggily thought he might as well get a bit wetter and pick Nurse Jane's spear-mint, which he did. Then he hopped back on dry land and began dancing up and down, first on one paw and then on the other, to shake the water out of his shoes. He kicked his heels up behind him.

All of a sudden a voice behind him cried:

"Well done! Well done, Uncle Wiggily! You need no more lessons from me! You can do the Charleston beautifully!" and there stood Miss Sunbeam, the dancing teacher.

"Do you really mean I can do the Charleston?" asked the bunny.

"Didn't I just see you shaking your feet, twisting first on one toe and then on the other, kicking back and knocking your knees together?" asked Miss Sunbeam. "Of course you were doing the Charleston!"

"I didn't know it if I was!" laughed the bunny. "I was just shaking the water out of my dancing shoes where I got all wet gathering Nurse Jane's spear-mint."

"Well, you got the spear-mint and the Charleston at the same time," laughed Miss Sunbeam. The rabbit gentleman took the spear-mint home, Nurse Jane made a wonderful pie and then Mr. Longears danced the Charleston for his wife and taught her how. So it all happened for the best, you see, and if the coconut cake doesn't climb the apple tree to see what makes the wheels of the watch go around, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cheese top.

NAVY LEAGUE FETE

BREW GROUND TO GOVERNMENT HOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Crawford of Vancouver have been spending the past few days in town.

Winners of Contest at Saturday's Garden Party Announced; Fine Programme

Although the uncertain weather militated against a large attendance as had been anticipated, a crowd estimated at nearly 500 attended the garden party held at Government House on Saturday afternoon. The fete was under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada and the object was to raise funds for the benefit of the war-disabled.

ATTRACTIVE BOOTHS

Mrs. S. W. Raven, the general convenor, with her committee, Mrs. P. W. Nelles, Mrs. H. W. Niven, Mrs. W. H. Langley and Mrs. Curtis, were responsible for the excellent arrangements. The many attractive booths with their gay decorations were ranged around the lower lawn, the various games and other attractions being close at hand.

WINNERS OF PRIZES

Many little and large prizes were won by the children of the P.P.C.L.I. Mrs. Niven assisting the little folk with their fishing. Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E. represented by Mrs. J. R. Hartley, had charge of the cake-guessing contest, the prize being shared by Mrs. R. Hayward and Mrs. Wollert, who both guessed 3 lbs. 4 ozs. and who were asked to get in touch with Mrs. Hartley. Mrs. F. J. Hall Jr. looked after the bean-guessing which was won by Thomas Gohby, who guessed nearest to the number, 212 beans.

The beautiful doll presented by Mr. Coles was first named Britannia, but as no one guessed this she was renamed, and six persons guessed the second name, Victoria. On drawing for the doll, Mrs. Walde, 3145 Carroll Street, was the lucky one and she may obtain the doll at the Navy Club office, Mrs. W. H. Langley and Mrs. A. T. Hodgson ran the doll contest in connection with their attractive doll stall. Miss Margaret won the best doll; Mrs. W. H. Langley sold gaily-colored handkerchiefs at a pretty stall.

Four pupils of Mrs. Gaskill gave a spirited sally dance, Miss Iris Gaskill danced a lymbal dance, and Miss Agnes Kennedy a graceful sally dance.

The Sea Cadets Band, under the direction of Bandmaster A. Hodgson, gave a musical programme throughout the afternoon and accompanied the dances, the young musicians playing with a skill worthy of veterans. They also accompanied the exhibition of drilling by the Sea Cadets Corps, whose smartness reflected much credit upon their instructor, Lieut. P. W. Tribe.

The pony pulled by Major Fiddington was popular with many young equestrians while the smaller folk rode in the pony and trap also kindly loaned by the Major. Messrs. Kennedy and Tribe were at the entrance and received much money for the cause by the sale of silk flags.

Gromakovsky, Russian Baritone, Here Thursday

Gromakovsky, who is to be heard in recital at the Crystal Garden ball next Thursday evening, is a concert world of this continent. He is a Russian, practically undiscovered. His history is written in his own native country, Russia, and in the Orient, where he went after his graduation from the Conservatory in St. Petersburg.

When heard recently in Vancouver some well-known musical people who attended the concert have since been loud in their praise as to his art, his vocalism and his masterful interpretations. His baritone voice is of unusual power and range, and his songs are pure and ravishingly beautiful.

His programme, a varied one, includes many of the great baritone songs from the operas of Wagner, Verdi, Rossini, Moussorgsky, Gluck and Liszt.

The plan of the hall is now open at Fletcher Brothers' music store where seats may be reserved up to Thursday afternoon.

CHAPTER XVII

Audrey lifted the little silk and velvet bag that she had brought on her arm, drew from it a fifty-dollar bill, and passed it to her escort. She did this without once taking her eyes from Morton, on the other side of the room.

Parish caught the direction of her glance, and with a quick look, settled back in his seat.

"Haven't we better go?" he asked, leaning over toward her.

She made a negative motion of her head. "I want to stay," she told him.

The manager of the restaurant himself was escorting Morton and his party to a table, that stood directly alongside the dance floor. Removing the sign "Reserved" from a bouquet of flowers that stood in the middle of the cloth, the manager pulled out Morton's chair for him. Morton waited until the girls in his party were seated, and then gave a rapid order to the restaurant man.

Audrey, watching, saw one of the liquor agents in the corner of the room disappear, and promptly returned with a small package. In a few moments a waiter brought to Morton's table a tray of after-dinner coffee cups. Morton, bowing to his party, lifted his own cup, as if pledging his companions.

"I bet they're drinking whisky," murmured Parish.

"Cocktails," said Audrey, briefly.

Parish looked at her with interest. "How can you tell?"

"Daddy has never taken me to any of these places, but he has told me about them," she said. "They always serve cocktails in those little coffee cups. That's so nobody can see what's in them."

The girls who were with Morton were strangers to Audrey, but the other male member of the party was the man who had spoken to Morton in front of the art store, the day before.

Paying almost no heed to Parish, she continued to watch Morton's table. The waiter brought her dish after dish, each of which she pushed away. Parish was making a good meal out of the small portions that were set before him.

"Don't you want to eat anything?" he asked her.

"I think not," she said. "I may take some coffee."

In Morton's group the conversation was becoming lively. Two more trays, with the little cups, had been brought. One girl, who was sitting at Morton's right, was laughing almost continuously.

The girl was ruddy, whether artificially or naturally, Audrey could not tell at that distance. Her hair was a rich dark red, and her cheeks were blooming. She had the round face of a child, and a child's round, inquiring eyes. Her arms and shoulders were bare, and on her left wrist was a long platinum chain, wound around and around to serve as a bracelet.

Audrey watched the girl upset a tall glass that the waiter placed before her. She giggled hysterically and drew back as the water splashed up the liquid with napkins snatched from an adjoining table. When she pulled her chair close again, she turned to Morton as if apologizing, leaning nearest to him, and her arm stooped over the back of his chair, and finally over his shoulder.

He merely looked amused.

"Let's go," again proposed Parish, who had not lost any of the details of this scene.

Audrey apparently did not hear him. Her eyes were fixed on the man and girl across the room. Her jaw was set a little forward, as if she were filled with some deep resolution.

Morton turned his head and whispered in the girl's ear. She laughed delightedly, and turning to her companions, apparently repeated what Morton had said. They all roared.

The strange man reached across the head of one of the girls, and patted Morton on the back.

The girl who was sitting at Morton's left hand, and next to him, almost as intently as Audrey. Now she leaned toward him, took the other girl's hand, removed it from his shoulder, and placed her own arm around his neck. The auburn-haired girl moved in quick protest. She clasped both her arms around him. There was a quick struggle, which Morton ended by rising to his feet, and backing away in mock dismay.

Audrey could see him turning to one of the girls, and then to the other, as if entreating them to behave. When he resumed his seat each of the girls tucked an arm through one of his, and the noisy conversation went on as they dipped gingerly into the plates of soup that were before them.

Once Morton's glance crossed the room, and rested for a moment apparently on Audrey. However, his face was unconcerned, and Audrey decided that he had not seen her.

"I think we can go now," she said to Parish.

Rising, he helped her to don her fur coat, and motioned to the waiter to come. He stood patiently until the man returned with his change. Laying a half-dollar beside his plate, he was starting out, but Audrey stopped him.

"I think he expects more than that," she suggested.

He looked at the half-dollar and then at the waiter, who had not touched the money.

"How much should I give him?" he asked the girl.

"About two dollars, I think," she said.

Reluctantly, he took back the coin, and laid two dollars in bills on the table. The waiter, without a change of countenance, nodded, and thanked him.

Together they wound their way through the tables, and to the door. Audrey watched Morton as he was talking intently to the ruddy girl, and did not lift his eyes.

Morton was standing at a grapefruit, at breakfast next morning, when the butler brought in a telegram.

Morton glanced over it.

"When my office opens, please call up Parish there, and tell him to wire my office in Tacoma, that I won't be back for about a week," he directed. "Tell them to take care of any business matters that come up as they see fit. They know what to do."

The butler bowed. Morton finished his grapefruit, and turned to the large platter of bacon and fried eggs that was set before him.

"Has Miss Morton been downstairs this morning?" he asked.

"No sir," the butler said. "Shall I inquire?"

"No—never mind," said Morton. "I think she retired rather late last night."

His breakfast finished, he picked up one of the papers that lay beside his plate, and glanced over the headlines. Then he turned to the market reports, and ran his eye down the columns of fine print.

Nothing of interest to him, he rang for the butler.

"Never mind that message to my office," he said. "Telephone Parish to come over here, right away."

He sauntered into the drawing-room, and stood looking out the window, at the busy street below. It was turning Spring, and the garments of the girl office workers, hurrying past, were brighter.

In color than for some months past. Morton watched the morning procession for a while, and then turned to the pipe-organ, back in the dark alcove. Switching on the electric lamp, he detached the self-player mechanism, and began fingering the keys softly.

He was still playing when Parish was announced, an hour later.

Parish's manner was stiff, as he entered the room. He did not give his hat into the outstretched hand of the butler, but remained standing at attention. There was much disfavor in his eye as he looked at his employer.

"Give him your hat and coat," Morton told him, still moving his hands over the keys.

Reluctantly Parish obeyed, and obeyed Morton's motion toward a chair.

Morton repeated the message for his Tacoma office that he had given to the butler earlier, and Parish made note of it.

"Is that all, sir?" he asked.

Morton thoughtfully strolled across the room, and seated himself on the edge of the table, beside which Parish sat.

"I'm going to be engaged this afternoon and this evening," Morton said. "Will it be too much trouble for you to take Miss Morton out any place that she desires to go?"

"No, sir," Parish said, sitting erect and rigid, with his eyes averted from Morton.

"In that case," said his employer, "I suggest you call her on the telephone about noon, and ask her if she would not like to go for a ride in the country. She has not yet risen this morning."

He looked at Parish, waiting, but the young man said nothing.

"You may open an office account for yourself," Morton went on, "for purposes of entertainment. I'm afraid that taking Miss Morton around may prove too costly for you, otherwise."

Parish flushed.

"Miss Morton usually has plenty of money with her," her guardian said.

ceded, "but it is embarrassing for a young man to borrow from a lady."

Parish started, and darted a quick look at his employer. Morton's face was impassive. Parish sighed, as if in relief.

"I am quite sure you will not take her to any place she ought not to go," the cool, even voice went on. "At least, unless she asks you to take her there herself."

Brentwood

Special to The Times

Brentwood, June 21.—On account of the showery weather on Saturday afternoon the garden party arranged by the South Saanich Guides, to be held at "Bardsey," was transferred to the Institute Hall.

In spite of the change there was a very good attendance. Mrs. Kinloch, Mrs. Burdick, Miss Leighton and Miss Williams, provincial officers, who came from Victoria for the event, were received by Mrs. H. R. Gale, District Commissioner for Saanich, and a guard of honor was formed by the South Saanich company.

An inspection followed, after which the guides in their smart uniforms gave an excellent display of drills and were highly complimented for their appearance and work. Later in the afternoon six young ladies, in quaint costumes, gracefully danced three charming country dances which were heartily applauded.

The evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner. Various stalls were placed around the hall, those of home-cooking and candy being in charge of the guides, who also served delicious afternoon tea at small tables decorated with Summer flowers.

Strawberries and cream and ice cream were sold by Mrs. Dighton, Miss Miles and Mrs. Bastin. The Ladies' Guild of St. Stephen's and St. Mary's had an attractive stall of plain Mary's handkerchiefs.

A fancy work presided over by Mrs. Turgoose and Mrs. Greenstead. Miss Barton told fortunes and many said a visit to "Red Riding Hood."

Guides wished to thank the many friends who attended on such short notice of the change of place and helped to make the affair such a success.

Most enjoyable was the entertainment given by Missionary Gleasons' Band on Friday evening in the Baptist Church. Mr. George Sluggett was chairman and in a few appropriate remarks introduced the following programme which occupied the first hour: Piano solo, "The Persian Market," Madeleine Sluggett; recitation, "My Programme," Edith Phyllis Sluggett and Nora Chipperfield; chorus, "Murmuring Stream," Girls' Mission Band; recitation, "Johnny Sands," Willie Sluggett; recitation, "Broadway," Joyce Thompson; solo, Mrs. Tapscott; recitation, "Poor Mother," Daisy Sluggett; duet, "The Little Old Garden," Madeleine Sluggett and Ida Heyer; recitation, "The Brown's Vacation," Myrtle Snider; recitation, Evelyn Snider.

Miss Alma Heyer and Madeleine Sluggett were conveners for the concert and also acted as accompanists.

Several interesting and amusing contests under the guidance of Ida Heyer and Myrtle Snider were the next feature, the winners of these being: Art gallery, Mrs. L. Thomson; advertising, Mrs. Agnes Parnell; recitation, Roy Heyer; peanut race, C. Sluggett. A fish pond created amusement for all. Refreshments, including strawberries and cream, were served by Mrs. J. Sluggett and Mrs. Price, assisted by Vera Vanhusen, Bertha Snider and Shirley Sluggett.

Visitors to the Anchorage Tea Gardens during the last week were: Mrs. McCready, Mrs. Caras of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Morley, San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Roberts and daughter of Pasadena.

YAWL TRUANT WINS COWICHAN EVENT

W. E. Adams's Vessel Takes Long Distance Race For Second Consecutive Year

Cliff Adams, sailing the yawl Truant, owned by W. E. Adams, of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, won the annual long distance race held yesterday at Cowichan Bay, in connection with the Up-Island regatta. The course was over a distance of approximately ten miles. The Truant finished ahead of the Lady Joy, owned by W. E. Adams, by seventeen minutes, but as she was under a fifteen minute handicap the winner of the trophy by the narrow margin of two minutes. The Minerva, owned by H. T. Barnes, ex-commander of the Victoria club, was third with the Varuna, owned by H. D. Payne of Victoria, taking fourth position. The Kid, the property of J. S. Robinson of Cowichan, was in fifth place while Dr. John Harper's Fayth failed to finish the race due to lack of wind. The Truant has won the cup four times, namely in 1913, 1922, 1925 and 1926.

The Dorothy, owned by W. H. Langley of Victoria, has been the only other Victoria vessel to win the cup, she carrying off the trophy in 1914.

Trial Shipment of Coal Planned

Ottawa, June 21 (Canadian Press).—Recommendation that a trial shipment of Alberta coal be made from the Drumheller mines by rail to the head of the Great Lakes, and then by steamer to Midland and other points in Ontario, probably will be one of the features of the report of the special coal committee of the House, which is expected to be tabled to-morrow.

This suggestion, it is understood, will be made with a view to determining the feasibility of putting into effect lower rates for shipments of Alberta coal to Ontario by a rail and lake haul in place of an all-rail one.

T.K.K. Line May Run to Vancouver

Vancouver, June 21.—It is possible that Vancouver may have yet another link with the Orient in the way of a direct freight service if the scheme at present under consideration by the Toyo Kisen Kaisha is agreed upon by the service will commence at an early date.

S. Itokawa sailed for Japan a few days ago on his return from a visit to North Pacific ports to investigate the possibilities of establishing the service. According to Mr. Itokawa, the scheme is under consideration, although he stated that plans are still in a premature condition. He indicated that the service would probably begin with a few carriers and that others would be added as freight warranted.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha fleet at present consists of the tanker Kiyomaru, operating between California and Japan; the Soyo Maru, which has passenger accommodation and operates between Hongkong, Tahiti, Makata and Japan, and the freighter Choyo Maru, Koyo Maru, Meijo Maru, Reijo Maru, Biyo Maru, Fukuyo Maru, Juvo Maru, Hayo Maru and Woyo Maru. These latter vessels are of the 3,500 to 4,000 ton deadweight type and are adapted to the grain and lumber trade, according to Mr. Itokawa, who states they are at present operating on a charter basis. All of the vessels excepting the tanker will be available for the new service if established.

Of the killed, five were passengers, eight were employees and fourteen "others." Of the injured twenty-six were passengers, 105 employees and there were thirty-three "others." There were twenty-two crossing accidents. Automobiles were involved in eighteen of these, resulting in the death of one person killed and twenty-five injured. In seventeen cases the crossings were classed as unprotected, and at these ten were killed and twenty-six injured.

Notice to Mariners

British Columbia. Shuswap Lake. Salmon Arm—Light established. Position—At outer end of channel leading to Government wharf 2,400 feet 25 degrees (N. 57 deg. W. mag.) from inner light on northwest corner of wharf.

Character—Occulting white acetylene light, automatically occulted at short intervals.

Description—A pole, dolphin surmounted with a light lantern on top.

Remarks—The light is unwatched. British Columbia. Harbors on the east shore of Hecla Strait—New chart issued.

A new chart showing plans of Griffith harbor, Rawlinson anchorage and approach; Gillen harbor, Borden Bay, and the approach to the east shore of Hecla Strait, numbered 323, has just been published by the Canadian Hydrographic Survey.

Copies may be obtained from the Hydrographic Survey, Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa. Note—Masters of vessels and others interested in navigating the charted waters of Canada are strongly advised to see that they are using the latest published charts or those having on them the latest corrections published in these Notices to Mariners. The Department sells its charts at a cost that will barely pay for the paper and it would therefore appear false economy to continue using charts after a new edition is issued.

The notices to mariners as published notify of the issue of new charts and of new editions of old charts. The old numbers issued from the Hydrographic Office, Ottawa, are corrected up to date by hand, but when corrections become serious new editions are gotten out.

CHAMBER ASKS MANUFACTURERS TO OFFER DATA

Seeks Information to Present Before Railway Board in Victoria

Factors to be Considered in Connection With Equalization

Manufacturers and merchants in Victoria who believe they are suffering from discrimination in regard to freight rates have been invited to send particulars to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce or to interview the transportation committee so that cases can be prepared for presentation to the Railway Board when it sits in Victoria early next month.

Some time ago the Chamber of Commerce prepared a general case on freight rates for presentation to the committee in the course of which it is suggested that corrections to the present freight structure now under advisement will go to the benefit of the people of the province. It is submitted that a new tariff should not be based entirely on the theory of an absolute equalization of rates without cognizance of certain factors. Many rates must for the purpose of the development of trade of Canada be based on such factors as supplementary to the removal of existing discrimination.

AN EXAMPLE

Reinforcing steel is given as an example. "The railway companies created a rate from Montreal and common points to the Pacific Coast terminals of sixty-five cents per 100 lbs. No such rate could be made if used as a measure of other rates on this commodity throughout Canada, yet its existence is a necessary security of the Coast market against competition from mills located at Seattle. It has enabled the manufacturers of Eastern Canada to meet American competition, adding to the wealth of the Dominion and increased employment, which at any higher rate would be lost to foreign markets. The Chamber submits that the creation of such special rates when exercised for a special purpose is both desirable and necessary, and must form an important adjunct to any Canadian tariff.

"It is essential," the report continues, "that the zoning system which has been an integral part of all Canadian tariff-making, and which has been maintained for the distribution and accumulation of goods, must be maintained. This cannot be done without the principle of a purely local equalization being made subsidiary thereto."

"The case of Montreal and Western Ontario is cited. Both enjoy a special tariff, which has been built up on the zone in existence for so many years. If their rates were not put on a mileage basis many of the large manufacturing concerns in Montreal would be weakened in their competition for westbound business to an extent that they could not compete, thus striking at the foundation of a policy that has been at the basis of the industrial fabric which they have reared, and which must be allowed to develop in volume to cope with foreign competition.

"The zones of distribution have been created to enable distributing houses to invest their capital at key positions for accumulation and distribution by means of importing by heavy haul in full carloads and the distribution for short haul at less than carload rates. This has resulted in economical operation by the railways and the advantage to the consumer of his cost being based on the long haul carload rate. To disturb this present policy by altering the zones would force a large movement of long haul freight into L.C.L. channels with its increased cost to the railways, a higher cost to the consumer, and the disturbance and destruction of investment based on the present structure, with its sequence of disastrous effects.

"It is submitted that the present tariffs, the product of fifty years of careful analysis based upon consistent conference between producer, distributor and consumer, and having been one of the chief instruments in the remarkable commercial development that has taken place in the Dominion, should be maintained in its present general structural features, subject to such changes only where undue and unfair discrimination is shown to exist and where such discrimination cannot be justified from the point of view of the retention of trade within the Dominion of Canada."

MARINE NOTES

This morning the Victoria Machinery Depot hauled out the Pacific Salvage Company's vessel Salvage King for cleaning, painting and a general inspection.

For cleaning and painting the Danish steamship Cornelia Maerka was drydocked on Yarrow's marine railway at noon to-day. The vessel will be laid up for about two days following which she will proceed to Vancouver to load a cargo of grain.

POLICE INTENSIFY SEARCH FOR KILLER

Uncle of Sylvia Gaines, Murdered in Seattle, Voluntarily Faces Investigators

Seattle, June 21.—The investigation of the murder of Sylvia Gaines, twenty-two, whose mutilated body was found on the shore of Green Lake in the city of Seattle, last Wednesday morning, took a new turn to-day.

There have been many rumors since the discovery of the crime. To dispel these, a County Commissioner, Robert A. Gaines, uncle of the slain girl, will be made the subject of a thorough investigation. His whereabouts and acts on the night of the slaying, from the time Sylvia parted from him at 8 o'clock on the lawn of their home at 108 North Fifty-first Street, the night she was murdered, till the time her body was found, will be inquired into.

IDENTIFICATION HOPED FOR

Furthermore, on his own request, he will be confronted by Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Stokes, 704 Green Lake Way, who officials assert to be the only couple alive they believe can positively identify the man supposed to be the perpetrator of the crime. Mr. Macdonald, victim of the slaying, started to-day by Prosecutor Ewing D. Colvin.

NO RUMORS CONFIRMED

"This case has taken a terrible turn," said Colvin. "Rumors, literally scores of them, are spreading like wild fire. There is not an official connected with the police or sheriff's office who has been able to confirm a single one of them."

"I am determined that the slaying of Sylvia Gaines shall be of an investigation of the highest order. It has become a matter of grave importance now to examine into every statement that has gone the rounds of the city."

GYROS ENTERTAIN TOURING ENGLISH FOOTBALL TEAM

Local Club Greets Traveling Professionals at Luncheon To-day

Victoria Gyros to-day welcomed the members of the visiting English football team at luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce cafe. On behalf of the Gyro Club, Archie Willis, chairman, introduced them to the club.

Having introduced the tourists, the chairman called upon J. A. Kingscotte, honorary treasurer of the English Football Association, who is traveling with the team, for his impressions of football in Canada and in England.

Mr. Kingscotte drew a comparison between football here and in the Old Country. He gave a vivid description of the popularity of soccer in England, as shown by the huge crowds drawn to the games. Commenting upon the Canadian tour, Mr. Kingscotte said "The farther West we get, the better players we find and the more opposition we encounter."

The team had been well extended in Winnipeg, Vancouver and Nanaimo, he said, and they were glad to be in Victoria.

An excellent programme has been arranged for the visiting party by James Adam, who has taken charge of the team's entertainment. This afternoon they are being taken on a drive around the Saanich Peninsula.

NEWSPAPER COMIC STRIP "ELLA CINDERS" SUBJECT OF COMEDY AT CAPITOL

Colleen Moore's Latest Vehicle for First National Is Full of Humor and Pathos

Fireplace humor and pathos as exemplified by the comic strip of the home newspaper becomes a living, moving thing upon the screen in the picture of "Ella Cinders." Colleen Moore's latest vehicle for First National, which begins an engagement at the Capitol Theatre to-day. That is the promise of manager Clifford Denham.

The picture, made by John McCormick, responsible for the highly successful screen version of "Irene," deals with the exploits of the once winner and victor of a small town movie contest promoted by swindlers, with a trip to Hollywood, all expenses paid, as the grand prize. With the conclusion of the contest, the glib schemers vanish from the scene, their pockets bulging with their disproportionate percentage of money derived from entry fees, while the heroine is left to shift for herself in a city overrun with beauties.

Miss Moore, who is always delightful in a Cinderella theme, can be expected to play her part in a drama of such background. She again has the services of Lloyd Hughes as her leading man and is surrounded by players of proven capabilities.

Alfred E. Green, her mentor in many past screen successes, directed Miss Moore in this new offering.

OLD SONG WEEK IS BILLED AT CAPITOL

The Capitol quartette at the Capitol Theatre this week will present something entirely new from the former programmes. It is entitled old song week, or "Songs My Mother Used to Sing." It has often been said that the old songs are still the best. So many requests have been made to the management for this class of programme that they have felt obliged to try one. As will be seen by the following numbers these songs are all well known, and no doubt will be received very favorably by the music lovers of this city. The following is the programme:

"Songs My Mother Used to Sing".....(Carl Bundschu)
"Daisies Won't Tell".....(Claire McKinley)
"Mother Machree".....(Harry Pfeil)
"Comin' Through the Rye".....(The Four)
"Sweet and Low".....Capitol Quartette
In addition to this the Capitol Theatre orchestra, under the direction of A. Prescott, will render the following programme for the picture: "The Swan" (St. Sacre), "Andantino" (Lamare), "May Breeze" (Leslie), "No Wonder" (Burke), "Parade of Wooden Soldiers" (Tesnel) and "Don't Wake Me Up" (Baer). This week should certainly be a popular music week.

Coliseum Presents "Six-cylinder Love" Motor Car Comedy

Story of Young Couple Encumbered With Car They Cannot Afford

Is there an automobile problem in North America to-day? Is the standard of ownership, which is approaching "one car per man" something that has in it some of the elements of a national domestic and economic danger?

The story of "Six-Cylinder Love" which is the bill for this week at the Coliseum Theatre deals with the ownership of cars by people who cannot really afford them. When the whole of a man's efforts and earnings goes into the purchase and upkeep of an automobile something has to be sacrificed and he often has nothing left with which to provide the solid comforts of home.

COULDN'T SELL IT OR PARK IT

In "Six-Cylinder Love" an automobile change hands a number of times to people who can't afford to keep it, and a young man who is induced to buy it can't buy gas for it nor pay for a place to keep it in a garage. If "pinched" by the police for breaking the parking regulations he would not be able to pay a fine. Worse still the $1,000 which is locked up in the car is badly needed to satisfy a debt of honor, and there seems to be no one around who can afford the car or its upkeep.

A JANITOR WITH AN OLD MODEL

The only person who can afford a car seems to be the janitor who has a way of "picking up" odd jobs and "extra money." He has already provided his wife with one kind of a car which is "an old model" but "still popular in some places." "Six-Cylinder Love" is a really delightful comedy with a strong human interest. It is somewhat different from some of the excellent lighter comedies which have recently been the bill at the Coliseum and ranks as one of the cleverest domestic plays ever written. The two young people who start married life encumbered with a car which they cannot afford are cleverly drawn studies and there is a wholesomeness about this well-constructed story that has pleased thousands of players since this fine piece of dramatic writing by William Anthony Macguire was produced in New York, and those who know and appreciate the work of the Coliseum directors will anticipate a presentation that will compare with any production of this comedy anywhere. As the young married man who has a car he cannot afford to keep, Jack Cassidy, formerly juvenile man of the Allen Players, will make his first appearance with the Coliseum Company among whom he will be a welcome addition.

Monday is known as "Boosters' Night" at the Coliseum and a fifty-dollar bill will be given to someone in the audience.

FUEL POLICY

Halifax, June 21.—Hon. G. S. Harrington, Minister of Public Works and Mines of Nova Scotia, stated in an interview here he had found the members of the special committee of the House investigating Canada's anthracite supply strongly sympathetic as regarded the adoption of a national fuel policy which he recommended when he appeared before them a few days ago. He was of the opinion they would recommend to Parliament the adoption of a national fuel policy.

Realistic Scenes In Feature Picture On Playhouse Screen

Lilies of the Street Opening
To-night Has Interesting Touches

Density of city traffic is said to have reached the controllable limit at Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, New York City. Traffic is regulated by towers and colored light signals, timed to the second. So great is the congestion that even a momentary disruption of the orderly sequence of east and west, and north and south bound traffic, brings about hopeless confusion. Yet so intensely interested were the traffic officials in the Metropolitan police-woman's picture, "Lilies of the Street," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, that all rules were suspended for ten minutes at noon on an appointed day for the filming of a single incident.

Sponsored by their able colleague, Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton, head of New York's Policewomen, their interest in its promised revelations of the criminal dangers that beset the girls of to-day, was natural. Thus it came about that as the north and south bound traffic stopped on signal, there darted around the corner of Forty-first Street into the congested Avenue, and on the wrong side of the street a smartly striped green sports car, driven by a dashing blond girl, of the flapper type, still in her teens. The thousands on the sidewalks stood aghast at a giant of a policeman with a warning cry to the crowd to stand back, leaped on the running board of the swiftly moving car—and apparently, placed the fair young driver under arrest.

It was the real thing to the crowd, but a huge banner lashed to the lowest framework of the handsome bronze traffic tower told the story. It read "Shooting Scenes for Lilies of the Street—with Virginia Lee Corbin." That dainty star was the reckless young driver, and the arrest but one of the many realistic scenes which are said to give a unique value to the picture.

Man's Head Cut In Auto Accident

Nelson, June 21.—James Duffy, Nelson locomotive fireman, has twenty-five stitches in his scalp as souvenirs of a motor accident at Beasley, near Nelson, Saturday afternoon, when, in passing a car, the coupe containing him and two other men went sideways off the bank and, impeded by the brush, turned over slowly seven or eight times, coming to a stop about 150 feet from the road. Duffy was hurt as he got out of the car on the first roll. His two companions, who stayed in the car were not hurt.

"BEVERLY OF GRAUSTARK" COLORFUL PICTURE WILL BE DOMINION MAGNET

George Barr McCutcheon's Famous Romantic Novel of European Court Etiquette Makes Wonderful Film

Ancient castles and age-old traditions; the old, old romance of the handsome prince and the beautiful girl; the ponderous workings of European court etiquette and the devious workings of European court intrigue—and Marion Davies, scintillating, winsome, and always astounding—these are the high spots in "Beverly of Graustark," the new Cosmopolitan production now being shown at the Dominion Theatre, and in which Miss Davies scores a triumph perhaps no greater, but certainly more astounding, than in any of her former vehicles.

It is a romance of old in modern dress. It is George Barr McCutcheon's famous novel, read by millions, made to live and breathe, and Marion Davies is the absolute reincarnation of its heroine. More than that, it gives her opportunity for a piece of acting so astonishing as to be almost impossible. In a masquerade as a crown prince, with hair cut, and wearing military uniform, she so perfectly counterfeits the male sex that one would imagine, if it were not known that Miss Davies was doing it, that the Prince of Wales himself was playing the part.

A NEW MARION DAVIES

It shows a new Marion Davies—also the old. The famous screen beauty is there, glittering gown and all—and also the actress, the impersonation of the crown prince might be likened to Bernhardt's "Falcon." She has created something that will live in screen annals. The story is told in a series of gorgeously staged scenes, the entire re-creation of the great Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios being used to make it a feature of features. The brilliant throne room scenes, with glittering costumes and gorgeous uniforms; the romantic garden of the castle; the crags, and the rest of the romantic surroundings of the romantic story were ideally designed.

BRITAIN'S RUSSIAN POLICY IS AN ISSUE

Strong Differences of Opinion
Among Ministers Regarding Attitude Reported

London, June 21.—The British Government's gentle handling of the Russian controversy in the matter of strike money contributions has been attributed in some quarters to strong differences of opinion among the ministers themselves. This view seems to be borne out by the forceful language employed by Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech in which he frankly declared it would afford him great personal satisfaction to see the Russian agents thrown out of England. Asserting he had tried to dissuade former Premier Lloyd George from recognizing the Soviet Government, which he considered a great blunder, Mr. Churchill praised the attitude of the United States toward Russia. He asserted the proof of the correctness of the course of the United States was that, without giving the slightest countenance to Bolshevik principles, the Americans had actually done more trade with Russia than Great Britain had been able to do.

BIRKENHEAD'S VIEWS
"The Russian Government is indeed mistaken if it has formed the view that our inactivity at the moment means the Government is ceasing to observe vigilantly its activities here and elsewhere," the Earl of Birkenhead, Secretary of State for India, said in a public address here. "I cannot doubt that unless we observe a change in signs, though none at present is apparent, it will be necessary for us to re-examine the whole question to decide whether or not we would be well advised in

Keating

Special To The Times

Keating, June 19.—A very enjoyable entertainment was held in the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening, when the members of the Metochin Institute were the guests of the South Saanich Farmers' and Women's Institutes at a strawberry social and dance. About forty guests made the trip from Metochin, and the first part of the programme was a short concert, as follows: Saxophone solo, Mr. Webb, accompanied on the piano by Mr. Newton; solos, Miss Evelyn Nimmo, Miss Blanch Sherring and Mrs. J. N. Wood; the accompaniments being played by Mrs. J. J. Young and Miss Janet Sherring. Roy Kinloch's three-piece orchestra provided excellent music for the dancing, and during the evening a delicious supper of strawberries and cream and cake and coffee was served by the ladies, the table being arranged in the dining-room, and prettily decorated with bouquets of flowers. After supper W. D. Michell, president of the South Saanich Institute, called upon C. E. Whitney Griffiths, president of the Metochin Institute to present the prizes to the winners of the strawberry and loganberry crop competitions recently held under the auspices of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute. The winners were as follows: Strawberry crop, 1, W. D. Michell & Sons; 2, J. N. Wood; 3, W. Holloway. Loganberry crop, 1, W. Holloway; 2, J. N. Wood; 3, N. H. Lament. Mr. Whitney Griffiths then thanked the local institute for the enjoyable evening's entertainment, and also called upon Messrs A. S. Burgess, N. Pollock, J. Stuart Yates of the Metochin Institute to address the gathering, each expressing their pleasure at being present. Dancing was then resumed, and was continued until 12.30 o'clock, when "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King" brought the affair to a close.

Prior to the entertainment of the Metochin Institute on Thursday evening the South Saanich Women's Institute held their monthly meeting with a large attendance of members present. The chair was taken by Mrs. W. D. Michell and the secretary, A. letter was received from G. Brydson of Victoria offering the services of a concert party. A letter from the solarium committee asking for names of crippled children was also read. Mrs. F. Young gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Nimmo and Mrs. Michell were appointed as delegates to the institute conference in the Fall, and Mrs. Bryan as delegate to the Local Council of Women. In presenting the report of the Junior Institute Club, Miss Blanch Sherring told of the success of the decorated car entered by the club in the parade on May 24, and presented the institute with $15 as their share of the prize money. An invitation was extended to the institute to be the guest of the J.I.C. at a garden party at the Experimental Farm on July 21, which received a hearty acceptance. It was moved that a letter of congratulation be sent the girls upon their success with the decorated car. Upon the suggestion of the librarian it was decided that the travelling library be returned, and a new one obtained. Upon the adjournment the ladies assisted the men in entertaining in the main hall.

The South Saanich Farmers' Institute held a short business meeting on Thursday evening, W. D. Michell presiding. Among the correspondence read by the secretary, G. Spencer, was a letter of thanks from the Women's Institute of South Saanich for their able assistance for the recent entertainment in aid of the Solarium fund. A letter from the secretary of the Victoria Fall Fair re the entering of a Saanich district exhibit was read, and the matter was left over until the next monthly meeting. It was decided to join with the Women's Institute for the annual picnic, and it was left in charge of the directors to meet the ladies and arrange a suitable date after the busy season.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Roy, Mrs. R. Tait, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Miss Maule of Duncan were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Butler, Keating Cross Road, on Thursday.

INDIAN BEAD WORK IS A MYSTERY

New Westminster, June 21.—There is mystery attached to a set of antique Indian work, a collar and pair of moccasins worked in bead work, representing thistles, which were sent from New York to Scotland in 1770 and which have been sent to W. H. Keary, secretary of the New Westminster Board of Trade, by W. C. Lund of Victoria. The question is where the Indians obtained the melon cloth and colored beads at that early date.

Mr. Keary, an authority on Indian matters, also possesses hats of great antiquity. One came from the Flat-head Indians and is painted much the same as totem poles.

ENGLISH FOOTBALLERS ARRIVE IN VICTORIA

Strapping Players Are Given Warm Reception

Premier John Oliver and His Cabinet Extend Welcome on Behalf of People of Province; Alderman William Marchant Extends Civic Welcome; Competition Getting Keener as Team Comes Farther West, Declares Mr. Kingscott

Jimmy Adam arrived in town last evening from Nanaimo with a fine strapping bunch of Englishmen in tow. Jimmy took over possession of the famous football team now touring Canada at Nanaimo yesterday afternoon, and he will be their official guide until Thursday at 2 o'clock, when the party sails for Vancouver.

Immediately after arrival here Guide Jimmy took the Englishmen to the Pacific Club, where they were entertained to dinner by Hon. John Oliver. Afterwards they proceeded to the Empress Hotel.

This morning they started on their round of pleasure. Ald. William Marchant, acting for H. H. Marchant, Mayor, called at the Empress Hotel and extended a civic welcome.

The party then proceeded to the Parliament Buildings, where Premier John Oliver and members of his Cabinet joined in extending a hearty welcome to the visitors on behalf of the people of British Columbia. At noon the footballers dined with the Gyro Club, after which the clubmen took them for a drive around Gordon Head, visiting Tom Ward's fine strawberry patch and returning for a reception at the home of Mrs. Dave Spencer, Cook Street.

ONE ROUND AFTER ANOTHER
This evening the footballers will be dined at the Empress Hotel by the Dominion Football Association. To-morrow morning they start out on another round of pleasure, and so on until they depart for the Mainland.

Arthur Kingscott, who is the manager of the English team, is a most genial person. At the Empress Hotel to-day he told of how much he had enjoyed the visit to Canada and of the many surprises that had been in store for him. He was greatly in love with Victoria, he said, and liked the drive from Nanaimo over the Malahat.

Regarding football Mr. Kingscott said that the farther West the team has come the better the football has been.

"On Saturday we had our hardest game of the tour in Nanaimo," he admitted. "Nanaimo has a bustling team and they played a very good game here on Wednesday night."

Two of the English players are suffering from bruises as a result of the match in Nanaimo, which was won by England by 3-0. Macgoe, sterling half-back, and Jack, scoring forward, were both badly shaken up and will have to miss a few games before they are fit again.

It was announced this morning that the team England will field against Victoria on Wednesday will be as follows: Goalkeeper, full-backs, Barks and Clifford; half-backs, Foxall, Waugh and Hooker; forwards, Harris, Cross, Rawlings, Walcott and Tunstall.

The Victoria rep team is to hold a workout to-night at 7 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. in preparation for the game against the Englishmen on Wednesday.

All Victoria footballers are invited to attend the "Wild West Frolie" which is to be held to-night by the Sons of Canada in honor of the Englishmen. The frolie will be held at the Knights of Pythias Hall and will start at 8 o'clock. A large turnout of local players is looked for so as to give the visitors a good time.

Nanaimo, June 21.—The English football team added another win to their string of victories here on Saturday, defeating the all-star Up Island team by 3 goals to 0. Both teams played great football, and at half time were standing scoreless. In the first few minutes of play in the second half luck was against the local team, and Tunstall scored from a long cross from the sidelines. He had not even shot, but the ball was dropping in front of goal. Tail, the local custodian, went to meet it and the ball rolled into the net. Five minutes later Smith scored England's second goal, the best of the day. It was the finest goal ever seen here, and was a terrific shot. Four minutes from the time Tunstall scored came a fine shot. The game all through was exciting, and produced football such as has seldom been seen on the island. The local team put up a far harder game than expected of them, and uncovered great combination work. Nanaimo checked vigorously. Magee for England was the outstanding player for the islanders, played good football.

Four thousand people witnessed the game.

Toronto, June 21.—Four new Canadian swimming records were established at the Queen City Club spring meet held in the Sun-aside outdoor pool here Saturday. Old-timers Take First Beating In Last Six Years

Johnny Wright Benefit Game at Royal Saturday Won by All-stars 10 Runs to 7

For the first time in six years the old-timers ball team has gone down to defeat. The hitting of the All-Star Seniors combined with Jack Curtis's pitching was too much for the great old warriors at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday and they were beaten by a score of 10 runs to 7 in the benefit game for the widow of the late Johnny Wright. A total of $150 was realized.

Fans were slightly disappointed with the outcome of the game, the majority being greatly in sympathy with the veteran players. It was only after a fast and "loose" nine innings that the old-timers bowed before the younger ball-tossers.

Jimmy Holmes and Frank Moore were on the mound for the veterans. Holmes had plenty of stuff on his hill and kept Umpire "Al" McGregor on the jump watching his four wickets to 115. The latter game was featured by Cocks' 103.

The first period opened fast, and Eddie Penhew of the Sons returned through for a tally thirty seconds after the start of the game. The Sons pursued their advantage, and Peterson found the net for yet another tally for the Sons just before the close of the session, when he swung a hot shot from behind the net. The ball struck Simpson, the local custodian, and rebounded for a tally.

It was only two minutes after the second period commenced that the Sons found another of Stanger's close in drive on a pass from Brynjolfson.

Sidney recuperated toward the close of the game, and presented the local players hard in the third and final quarters. Manny Norton secured the millmen's only tally during the fourth session on a long shot, which rolled past Gravin into the net.

The Son's goal.

HELEN DECIDES IT WOULD BE WISER NOT TO PLAY IN TOURNEY

London, June 21.—Associated Press—Miss Helen Wills, American tennis champion, is deeply disappointed that she will be unable to compete in the Wimbledon Jubilee tournament, but has decided that it will be wiser for her to rest after her recent operation in Paris for appendicitis.

Miss Wills arrived here on Saturday evening with her mother, hopeful that she might be able to get in a little practice on the side courts between contests at Wimbledon where she will be an eager spectator.

Clay Court Tennis Tourney Sees Many Very Close Matches

Play Although Only Opening Saturday, Gives Signs of Lively Competition

Only Local Players Competing in Opening Rounds; Visitors Here This Week

The City Clay Court Championships got away to a good start on the courts of the Kingston Street Tennis Club over the week-end. The weather on Saturday, the opening day, was poor, but in spite of this a large number of matches were played off, a number of which were very close and exciting.

Play continued all day yesterday and second round matches will start this afternoon, when all the leading players will get into action.

The men's singles provided most of the action of the first round. Willis and Temple, the well-known local players, staged a three-set battle, which the former won after a tremendous overhead smash, but as an understudy of the ground, Young Bob Schwengers, son of Canada's famous Davis Cup player, gave Jim Cunningham quite a run in the second set of their match, leading the Victoria player 4-2 in one stage. Cunningham was too steady, however, and won out 6-1, 6-4.

GORDON SURVIVES
D. M. Gordon, who won the city championship three years ago, had a hard first set with Eric Martin. Martin played wonderful tennis in the first six games, but Gordon's deep drives to the forehand corner, after five to one had been called Gordon put more punch into his shots and grew steadier, gradually working up until he had a lead of 6-5. At this stage Martin made another spurt and drew level at six all. His rally was short-lived, however, and Gordon won the set 8-6.

It was good tennis all the way and had the gallery on edge. In the second set Gordon played with more confidence and his shots were faster and his volleying more accurate.

"Bert" Flett, popular Victoria Club player, known as "Eliminator" Flett, played in great form to defeat List of the Kingston Street club in straight sets, the first being a love set.

Somewhat of a sensation was caused by the performance of Annette, the Bombay player, in the mixed doubles. He gave the spectators a finished exhibition of tennis and is expected to go a long way in all events. Miss Hope Leeming and Eric McCallum were in good form in their first round match and won easily, their opponents having great difficulty with McCallum's twist service.

BROTHERS WIN OUT
Temple and Martin lost the Cunningham Brothers in good form in their first round match and won easily, their opponents having great difficulty with McCallum's twist service.

Great Week Of Sport Opens Up In England

King and Queen Attend Opening of Wimbledon Championships To-day, With Suzanne Lenglen Another Distinguished Attendant; British Women's Golf Championship Is Also Under Way, While British Open Golf Titleholder Will Be Decided This Week

London, June 21.—Interest in the great week of sport in England, which has the British open golf championship as its prime feature, centred to-day at Wimbledon, where the jubilee lawn tennis tournament began with the event honored by the official presence of King George and Queen Mary.

Fifty years ago the first lawn tennis championship of England was decided at Wimbledon and the semi-centennial is to be made a gala occasion, with the presentation of medals by the King to the champions of past years in a ceremony on the centre court before play begins for this year's championship honors.

The British press calls it a "royal Wimbledon," for not only will the sovereigns participate in the opening ceremonies and attend the early matches, but the Duke of York is entered in the doubles, partnered with Wing Commander Louis Grieg.

The outstanding figure at Wimbledon this year is, of course, the famous Suzanne Lenglen.

The opening matches were preceded by a colorful ceremony at which the King and Queen presented medals to the champions of past years. The King shook hands with each player and the Queen presented the medals.

The ceremonies opened with a parade of the competitors. The scene was most picturesque, the stands being filled with

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, June 21 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Persistent efforts of the professional element to bring about a reaction met with success in the late afternoon following the advance in the call money rate to 4 1/2 per cent prior to this market showed excellent absorptive powers except in a few specialties, such as Union Oil of California and International Combustion. New issues and group were taken in hand, such as various oils, carriers, motors and industrial developments were for the most part favorable, interspersed with expressions of optimism. Also the character of the prominent market leaders in no small measure is accounting for the fuller co-operation from outside sources in the recent upbidding of values.

Early buying operations were more diversified, taking in more groups than has been witnessed up to date, and the final dealings showed an improved class of buying. Reactionary developments after the prolonged upward swing are a natural development, and while the market from time to time may be forced to absorb profit taking, we continue to believe in the buying side.

New York, June 21 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Stocks pursued an extremely irregular course in the opening session of the week. In the first three hours, a general strong tone was displayed, and vigorous buying operations went ahead in various parts of the list, carrying several representative issues to new highs.

In the afternoon call money stiffened to 4 1/2 per cent, but the renewal charge of 4 per cent. This development, which came in the face of clearing house surplus of $19,748,890 compared with a deficit of $7,411,000 the previous week, foreshadowed heavy semi-annual commercial settlements at the end of this month, in addition to preparations to meet the usual dividend and interest disbursements, which always tend to tighten funds temporarily.

Bullish confidence was evidently greatly heartened by the ease with which the general through the influence of Friday's sudden reaction, and brisk buying activities went ahead in many sections of the list through the morning.

Union Oil broke four points to 51 1/4 on denial that the company officials of any kind of a merger with Marland. Texas Company continued in active demand at $26.00, its new levels in seven years at 55.

While Texas Company reported net of $39,605,078 equivalent to $6.02 a share in 1925 compared with $2.98 of 1924 or $4.02 in 1924, it is understood that earnings this year will show even more substantial gains due to the addition in May of its new gasoline, which is high test and anti-knock.

Accumulation is reported to be going steadily ahead in Pullman in anticipation of the completion of the company's car building properties. Frisco common was a strong point in the carrier group, moving up a point to 48 on having based on the belief that the stock has been selling out line with other $7 dividend falls. Based on earnings for the four months ended April 30, the balance for the common stock this year should exceed the $15.50 a share reported for 1925.

Time money is dull and showing firmness. The demand is limited. The rate is 4 1/2 per cent, flat, bid and offered for three to six months, shorter dates fractionally lower.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, June 21.—A drastic decline in the July futures, which recorded a loss of 2 1/4 at the close, featured the wheat market here to-day.

Favorable crop conditions, following heavy rains over the week-end, light export business and weak Liverpool cables were the main factors in influencing lower quotations. July closed at the low for the day at 149 1/4, with October at 131 1/4 and December 128 1/4, a loss of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 respectively.

Offerings were more liberal to-day, and a moderate spreading trade was reported, selling July and buying October and selling October and buying December. Light export sales were recorded.

Trade was quite light in the coarse grains, with prices lower in sympathy with wheat. Trade in flax was featured by a two-cent decline.

Cash coarse grains were featureless.

Winnipeg, June 21 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat—Sentiment was more or less bearish to-day, and the market was under pressure throughout, especially on the flouries, which were difficult to hold, and prices finally closed at the low for the day.

With export business over the week end rather disappointing, weakness in Liverpool, the northwest and break in local cash premiums were some of the depressing factors.

There was evidence of liquidation around bottom levels. Buying power was not aggressive, although the offerings seemed to be well taken on weak spots.

Clearing weather was expected for the southwest, which would facilitate the movement of new grain already well under way in the interior. The first two cars of new wheat arrived in Chicago to-day, coming from Oklahoma and graded No. 1 dark hard.

World's shipments last week 16,500,000 bushels compared with 17,800,000 bushels the previous week, and 19,500,000 bushels last year. Supply of wheat and flour on passage increased 3,400,000 bushels.

Domestic visible decreased 1,520,000 bushels for the week. Somewhat larger than had been anticipated. Seaboard reported a fair demand for new crop winter wheat placed the sales at 100,000 bushels at midday.

Some cables had it that foreign crop damage was exaggerated. The market may be regarded as having given a good account of itself. Underlying conditions are stronger than the surface news suggests.

Corn: Sold off with the leading grain. There was little feature. Trade was moderate and range narrow. Commission houses were inclined to sell on the weakness in the leading grain. Visible increased 1,912,000 bushels. Cash demand still slow.

Oats: Dropped sharply under scattered selling, much of which was liquidation. Rains throughout the West and southwest were beneficial the last few days. Hedging sales in oats were gain in evidence. Visible supply increased 465,000 bushels.

Chicago, June 21 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat—The direct pit wire: Wheat was under pressure from the start and prices declined, with local sentiment bearish. There was a lack of support at times, and under 13 1/2 for July and 14 1/4 for September. Some weak cables had it that foreign crop damage was exaggerated.

INVESTMENT SERVICE

The following excerpt from a recent address by one of the leading bankers in New York with particular reference to the investment business, is, we believe, the keynote of our organization: "The manufacturer and the merchant have something tangible to sell—something which can be seen or felt or weighed. But we have to sell the most intangible thing in the world—service. And since service cannot be seen or felt or weighed, its measure of value is the spirit in which it is rendered and the little things which are the outward symbols of service."

CITADEL BAND OF WINNIPEG IN CONCERT HERE

The Citadel Band of Winnipeg, which is making a tour of Pacific Coast cities, rendered a first-class musical programme at the Variety Theatre on Saturday night.

The band is composed of forty-eight pieces, and is under the baton of Henry G. Merritt, bandmaster.

The opening number was a selection of "Gems From the Great Masters," arranged by A. Macanally, including excerpts from the works of Bellini, Meyerbeer, Wagner, Gounod and Herold. A number of vocal choruses were given, including the "Plantation Melody." A fine reception was given E. Halsey, a former Victoria boy, who has won distinction in the Salvation Army. A cornet solo was rendered by him, entitled "Old English Air."

Liston Burns McIlhagga, seven-year-old medalist of Winnipeg, and a member of the Winnipeg Citadel Life Saving Club, a juvenile institution corresponding to the Wolf Cubs, delivered several short readings, including "Skinny McGuire," "An Incentive to Cleanliness," "The Next Stop is Kero-coddy," and "The Radio."

"I certainly envy Mrs. Patleigh when she laughs."

"Why?"

"There seems so much of her that is having a good time."

RACE SUICIDE

In a few years the death rate will far exceed the birth rate in Germany, according to Professor Grotjahn.

WHO IS YOUR SKINNY FRIEND, ETHEL?

Tell him to take McCoy's Cod Liver Extract—Tablets for a couple of months and get enough good healthy flesh on his bones to look like a real man.

Tell him it's the only way to take those gravel-like hollows from his cheeks and neck.

Tell him that thousands of thin, puny, peaked, scrawny men all over America have improved their physical health and appearance and bless the day they first heard of these wonderful sugar-coated tablets so full of weight producing vitamins.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, Vancouver Drug Company, MacFarlane Drug Company, Owl Drug Company and every drugist sells them—60 tablets—60 cents. Any thin man or woman can put on five pounds of healthy flesh in 30 days or your drugist is authorized to refund the purchase price.

One woman put on 15 pounds in six weeks. Children grow robust and strong—feeble old people feel younger in a few weeks. (Adv.)

STUDENTS SHARE IN SMOKING EXPERIMENT

Beloit, Wis., June 21.—Cigarette smoking is not a drug habit, but is gained by the individual because of the working of an inferiority complex. At least Prof. Glen Dewerd, head of the department of psychology at Beloit College, hopes to prove this is the case by an experiment being worked out by a group of college students.

Prof. Dewerd believes individuals begin to smoke and continue to do so because they consider themselves "out of things" and queer if they don't, especially in the presence of smokers. Nine college students in psychology courses are experimenting with themselves to see just why they smoke, and after they stop, whether and why they desire to start again.

Sermon on "Eternity"

(Preached on Sunday)

"He Hath Set Eternity in Their Hearts"
—Ecclesiastes iii 2.

By DEAN QUANTON

Christianity has always declared that God is eternal. This is of course incomprehensible, but it is a necessary element of thought. If God began or came to an end at any point of time, He would be dependent and derived. The first cause must be uncaused, undeviated, self-existent, and, therefore, eternal.

When people speak of "passing from time into eternity," they often mean that they will pass from a state of limited duration to one of endless duration. That is because we are creatures of time. We are in the bondage of succession. True, we retain personal continuity throughout, but yesterday is gone, as this very moment is going. We, therefore, rather hastily assume that there is no other sort of existence save this, governed by clock-time and chronology. If God be perfection, He is superior to clock-time. If He be perfect, everything in the present now to His mind. There is a time-less element about perfect knowledge, perfect truth, and perfect goodness. We must not associate consecutiveness but simultaneousness with God. He has the secret of perpetual satisfaction, because He has everything now. The main idea of eternity, therefore, is exemption from, or at least superiority to conditions of time. Of course, God must be aware of time, or He would not know things as they are, but He knows them, so to speak, from beyond time. He is independent of time, or perhaps His eternity contains time, or at least transcends time. It is a remarkable and paradoxical thing that man, the creature of time, has a sense of eternity. In Saeculorum's poem, "Eternity," he pictures some men in the trenches so impressed in the midst of blood and filth by a skylark's song over No Man's Land, that there came to them the sense of eternity.

"Everyone's voice was suddenly lifted. And beauty came like the setting sun. My heart was shaken with tears; and horror drifted away. Oh! But every one was a bird. And the song was wordless. The singing will never be done."

We all have had experiences when time has seemed to disappear—deeply stirred, emotion, a great ecstasy, superb music, high poetry. Or the human spirit believes itself to be in rapt contact with the Divine Spirit. "Time never seems long in prayer," say the saints. It may be assumed that it is at such times that man is nearest to the comprehension of eternity. In one sense, we cannot stay the wheels of time. In another sense we can. We can withdraw to a world where time seems unable to follow us, in which the homeless soul of man at last feels it has found rest.

From whence does man get this sense of eternity? The only answer is "He hath set eternity in their hearts." Picture some magnificent planet, observed by the astronomer, why they smoke, and after they stop, whether and why they desire to start again.

Prof. Dewerd believes individuals begin to smoke and continue to do so because they consider themselves "out of things" and queer if they don't, especially in the presence of smokers. Nine college students in psychology courses are experimenting with themselves to see just why they smoke, and after they stop, whether and why they desire to start again.

SIX DIE IN PLANT

Six deaths, the result of necrosis of the jaw and aplastic anemia, occurred in one factory where the workers are engaged in painting luminous watch dials, investigations of the department of labor at Washington reveal.

Two practical observations—

(1) We are told to think internationally. Let us also sometimes think eternally. In that case, we shall sit more loosely (while using) the things of time and sense, we shall smile at the petty anxieties that mar our peace. We shall be steadier, more patient, more forgiving, more merciful. Even now we shall find refuge in a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

(2) If we view eternity as superiority to the successions of time, we shall not be disturbed by such pathetic questions as: "Do we grow old in Heaven? Mothers there their little babies by death, and wonder whether the babe grows old. There are no old people in Heaven, because all have the sense of the eternal 'now.' Yet I must not dramatize here, and say there is no sense of duration in Heaven. It is not impossible to conceive a sense of simultaneousness to gether with some sense of duration, but I feel quite sure that the fundamental idea of eternity should be the transcendence of time. If Him be perfect, everything in the present now to His mind. There is a time-less element about perfect knowledge, perfect truth, and perfect goodness. We must not associate consecutiveness but simultaneousness with God. He has the secret of perpetual satisfaction, because He has everything now. The main idea of eternity, therefore, is exemption from, or at least superiority to conditions of time. Judas, too, we are told, knew the place.

(b) "Sorrowful" is no ordinary word as Mark uses it.

1. Herod is said to have been "exceeding sorry," when asked for the of John the Baptist.

2. When the rich young ruler was hidden to sacrifice his wealth he went away "very sorrowful."

3. There is suggested the anguish that comes to anyone when they have said or done something that they wish a thousand times had been left unsaid, or undone. I remember at a public gathering a man stood up and said something about about another man who was present. The other man jumped to his feet. Then he paused. After a second's silence he said with solemn emphasis, "I wish he had said that." And the man who said it was "exceeding sorrowful." An impression had been made, and explanations were difficult.

(c) The temptation of the Garden, like that of the wilderness, is in three stages. At the end of each stage Jesus finds His disciples asleep. And the third time He says, "You might as well keep on sleeping; neither prayer, nor watchfulness can help any now. The hour is come. Let us go. Let us go." And even yet they did not understand what it was all about.

(d) The Meaning to Jesus—Some matter-of-fact souls regard Gethsemane as a study in psychology, but no modern writer has ever given such a wordy account of agony such as we find in the simple words of the old Gospels. The writers of the Gospels knew enough about the individual psychology to leave it to the individual reader to discover just what the experience meant to our Lord. We shall never know all. But we may learn much.

(a) First we may learn that Jesus did not shrink the cross. He dreaded it, but he feared it. He was not a coward. He was not a weakling. He was not a man who would have arranged things very differently, if only he had supreme power. He was a man who had no power, but he was a man who had no fear.

(b) Second, there was the triumph of submission. You remember the story of Evangelism. "Evangelism is Longfellow's most perfect poem. It tells of the life-long separation of the two simple peasant lovers. The bride roams far and near over a whole continent, never wearying in her search from the hour of parting, which was meant to have been the hour of wedding. Then, in old age, when a sister of mercy, she loved the long-lost loved one in a public hall. There has never been a finer tribute paid to deathless love than in the closing lines of the poem:

"And she pressed once more the lifeless head to her bosom,
Meekly she bowed her own and murmured,
'Father, I thank thee.'"

Surely that is an echo of Gethsemane: "nevertheless not what I will, but what thou wilt." The triumph of submission.

(c) There is also the strength of submission. I believe that the moment of the Transfiguration made Jesus strong in the Garden of Gethsemane. There is a note of calm, quiet strength about the way in which He addresses the sleepy apostles. "The hour is come; rise up, let us go."

3. Its Meaning for Us—We have not fathomed the Mind in the Garden, but we must now ask ourselves just what lessons Gethsemane has for us.

(a) Perhaps one of the first lessons we should learn is just this note of calm assurance in the desolate places of life. Just as music can be brought forth at will; just as the powers of nature can be stored up, and harnessed, and directed to the time and place of greatest need, so I believe the training, and devotion and prayer, and submission of many years are stored in our soul, and prove to us a tower of strength in the hour of temptation.

1. The picture of the daffodils often came back to Wordsworth's mind in the remoteness of the hills to the quiet of his study.

"For oft when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash across that inward eye,
Which is the bliss of solitude,
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils."

2. To the prisoner of Chillon it was "the carol of a bird, the sweetest song ear ever heard."

3. To the blind girl, the one he had loved, and who came to minister to him in his prison.

4. To Milton it was the memory of prayer, the Bible, and duty done, that brought strength, when in his blindness he could write, "They also serve who only stand and wait."

5. Disappointments, desolation, sorrow, affliction come to us all. We must all pass through Gethsemane. It is God's will that we should realize the inevitable. The Spirit of the living God, that bears us up, and makes us strong to bear the crosses of life.

(b) One last word—the note of submission. Jesus did not find much comfort in the Garden, save what came from the Father. We must bow before the inevitable. Let us learn the Master's way. "Not what I will, but what thou wilt."

"Father I thank thee."
Conclusion—Gethsemane came to Jesus. The Cross came. The Resurrection came. Gethsemane will come to you; it will come to me. It is the way of the cross. It is the way of the crown. It is the will of God. Let us all strive to bring our will into harmony with the divine will. It is the way of strength. It is the way of peace.

(c) The word "Gethsemane" means "the oil-press." John tells us that it was a garden just beyond a little brook, an olive orchard at the foot of Mount Olivet. There would be found a press to crush the olives. He trod the wine-presses alone; it was a favorite resort of our Lord.

Book Reading
Habits of U.S.
Change With Years

New York, June 21.—Best sellers in United States, within whose list no author objects to landing, are suffering with "growing pains."

The stereotyped phrase "the six best sellers" has become obsolete. To-day, the list contains about thirty best selling books. Non-fiction has advanced to claim its place in the foreground.

Alfred Harcourt, the publisher, ascribes the growth to several reasons and conditions—

One of them is that libraries and schools have undergone a remarkable development, with a corresponding encouraging influence upon reading and literature.

"Books formerly confined to clergymen and professors now are universally possessed," he said. "The present adult generation is the first in America to grow up with books within easy reach of all. It looks upon books as companions and necessities in life.

"With the war came a little doubt about the values of civilization which had grown up. People began to think more seriously and to question. There developed an intellectual ferment, which still exists.

"People who had a devout sense of religion became more religious. Modernists became more modern. International and racial problems also became significant.

"We read 500,000 copies of 'Main Street,' another 500,000 of 'Wells' 'Outline of History' and 300,000 copies of Papini's 'Life of Christ'.

"In other words, people not only read fiction but they began reading more for background—biography, political memoirs, popular science and history.

"Fifteen years ago, the six best sellers were confined to the class of serious political novels. Non-fiction virtually had no representation. Now in that list we have about fifteen fiction titles and an equal number of non-fiction. The public pays about as much for non-fiction as it does for fiction."

How Often Are You Handicapped By That "Heavy Feeling" After Eating?

Whether you sit at an office desk or work all day long in a factory, you must realize the bearing that diet has on your efficiency. Hurred eating of heavy foods often brings the pangs of indigestion. More often still, it brings the dullness—the slow starting of the day's work—which follows a too-heavy breakfast or lunch.

How often are you handicapped in this way? How often is it forcibly brought home to you the value of careful selection of foods which will give you the balanced nourishment you need, in a form that your body can quickly use? This is indeed worth the most serious thought you can bring to it.

Delicious Grape-Nuts Gives You Balanced Nourishment in Easily Digested Form

The food expert who originated Grape-Nuts, designed it expressly to supply five of the essential elements of nutrition in a form which the body can assimilate almost at once.

Grape-Nuts is made from two wonderful golden grains—whole wheat and malted barley. The special baking process by which they are prepared develops the tempting, nut-like flavor to the utmost—and makes Grape-Nuts one of the most easily digested foods in the world!

Grape-Nuts gives your body dextrins, maltose and other carbohydrates for energy; iron for the blood; phosphorus for bones and teeth; protein for muscle and tissue building; and the very important Vitamin-B. And Grape-Nuts is crisp—delightfully crisp, to encourage the thorough chewing which helps so greatly in preserving the health and beauty of teeth and gums.

Nothing can take the place of this natural exercise, say dental authorities. They put much of the blame for modern diseases of the mouth upon modern foods—almost all of them soft! Everywhere, nowadays, dentists are urging their patients to eat crisp foods.

For a better breakfast try Grape-Nuts to-morrow. Comes in well-wrapped packages ready to eat with milk or cream. Very economical, for four teaspoonsful, costing less than one cent, is sufficient for each serving. Your grocer has Grape-Nuts for you—or you may wish to accept the following offer.

"A Book of Better Breakfasts"—and two servings of Grape-Nuts, free. Mail the coupon and we will send you two individual packages of Grape-Nuts free. We will send, also, "A Book of Better Breakfasts," which a former college physical director has prepared for us. You will find the delightful menus which this book contains a real help toward better health.
